

Butterfly Babies Materials List

1. Light weight fabric - a small piece to sew your butterfly body from. I used a beautiful double gauze but many different types of fabric will work - you may be able to repurpose some no longer needed clothing.

2. Wool felt - in your choice of colour for your butterfly wings, I love to choose a colour that complements the fabric that I'm working with.

3. 100% wool stuffing - allow a small handful per doll.

4. Tricot/cotton interlock fabric - in your choice of skin colour. Allow a piece 6cm x 6cm to make a little head.

5. Cotton quilting thread/strong sewing thread - in a colour tone similar to your doll skin fabric (for making the head), a colour to match your hair and a colour similar to your body fabric. I like to use Gutermann Quilting Cotton. Gutermann polyester thread is a good alternative. Embroidery thread will also work.

6. English Leicester or Corriedale wool fibre - for her hair. You could also use wool yarn (the kind usually used in knitting). I'm also loving wool crepe which I shall share more about in the videos.

7. Embroidery cotton/floss - you'll need a colour for the eyes and a colour to compliment your wing colour (if you choose to add embroidered details to your wings) ... I used a metallic thread.

8. Red beeswax crayon - to give your little baby some rosy cheeks.

9. Sewing needles - Quilt basting needles (these are very long thin sharp needles and my favourites for doll making).

10. Scissors, pins, chopstick for stuffing.

Optional

- Dried Lavender flowers are beautiful to add when stuffing your butterfly baby.

- Brooch Back (30mm) if you'd like to create a brooch.

beginning of spring or summer. These little butterfly babies make treasured gifts, and can be made into a brooch to attach to a bag, or perhaps bedroom curtains! You may like to add some dried lavender when stuffing your baby for a little more magic.

In this workshop I teach the Butterfly Baby with a simple unformed head - this is one of my favourite methods if you are new to doll making.

I mention that you could give your baby a formed head - if you would like to try this method (which you can see in The Strawberry Baby videos), you will also need:

1.5cm or 2.5cm tubular bandage (also called gauze) - 15cm will be enough for one head. I also like to use a larger size gauze (4.5cm) and cut it open to make a 'free form head' rather than stuffing wool into the tube. I share this technique in The Strawberry Baby videos. If you don't have any tubular bandage you could also use a thick stocking.
